

Dear Students,

Are you ready to embark on an extraordinary journey where you will explore what it's like to work as a leader in the healthcare industry? Look no further!

Bristol Myers Squibb (BMS) - one of the world's leading pharmaceutical companies - is thrilled to announce the opening of applications for our prestigious BMS Leaders Lab program. The event will take place at our global collaboration hub in Boudry (Switzerland), where over a thousand experts from around the globe work hand-in-hand to tackle some of the most challenging health issues of our time. It will take place from 27.-29. August 2024.

What to expect?

Join top students from Switzerland and Austria for a two-and-a-half-day event, getting first-hand insights from top experts in ways of working in a research-based healthcare company. You will also work on a real business case alongside your student peers from natural sciences, medicine, IT, law or business faculties. This is your chance to work in interdisciplinary teams, learn from industry leaders, and envision your future in a vibrant, international setting. Whether it's transforming patient lives or finding your career path, the Leaders Lab by BMS is your gateway to possibilities in healthcare.

Are you ready to discover your potential and make an impact on today's and tomorrow's world?

All travel and accommodation costs will be covered by BMS

How to apply?

To apply for the BMS Leaders Lab, please include your contact details alongside your CV and send it to leaderslab@bms.com. For further information please visit our webpage Leaders Lab (bms.com).
